This license is not limited and does not expire. We enjoyed dipping a variety of fruits and other treats into a chocolate fountain like our sweet, made a DIY trail mix for an energetic snack, and made smoothies like the sorbent snack. Some of the girls knew how to play while others didn't. We plan our meetings to make sure we have time to complete each badge, so that we can plan ahead for the badges that require more organization or preparation. Service Unit License: Buy a download for your service unit and buy it with all your leaders. We continued with the first aid badge with the help of one of my troop parents who is an emergency nurse. We split into two teams and then split into pairs for a day of field. Although there were girls who didn't like some of the food choices, they tried the snacks anyway to earn their badges. As a last step in making the world a better place, our troops introduced Guatemala to our service unit's World Thought Day event. The girls marked their favorite paintings with post-it notes, and then shared them with the group, discussing why that piece of art spoke to them. In preparation for this online research project, we read and talked about Internet Security and signed the commitment in your books. The partners held each other's feet and helped count and keep time for each other. The download is for the use of your troops only. Girls' interests change as they grow up, so even though we think we "know" our girls, I asked them to vote for where we should start. Badge #4: Painting Next on our list was the Painting badge. Free reviews and updates included. From there we walked a radius of 4 blocks that allowed us to visit and know the sites that we had read. They chose their three best options indicating their votes with a sticker in a graph that listed the badges. To end the plate, we had a Halloween party. It was the perfect badge to win during the holidays, because we could complete steps 2 and 3 walking and singing singing us ed etrap atse rop ohcum no Reidnerpa sachic sal. The pieces of dead and the mural were increased well, and we spent a wonderful time working with unusual ways of painting our world. Badge #5: First aid as Moved towards the end of the year, we obtained the skills we need for a camping night, so first aid came after. We talked about ways to demonstrate the athlete and we had an afternoon an increased animating each other. Using 5 interesting data that I found in line, created a poster to demonstrate the final product since they wanted to complete the pomter at home so that each child could learn about an error that they liked (it could be an insect, Arm cnido, etc.). It was one of the only badges that we completed in a meeting. In our final gathering of the painter, we worked in two groups: one group made murals and the other painted the dead life of a fruit taz. What to do below: Liz Livolsi: Liz Livolsi is a former Girl Scout and now a 16 -year -old girl scout scout. She made sweet potato chips for tasty splash. We achieved the last steps of the flagship playing Kim's game (which is in the Brownie of Girl Scout Way) as a fun way to practice being honest and fair, learn about our founder, Juliette Gordon Low, so how to celebrate it.
